An exhibition as rare as it is beautiful, as novel, moral and unique as it is intensely interesting, comprising the great fire scene where the fearless horse, "Bonita," rescues his mistress from a burning building. Startling battle scene! Horses at war! Charge of the artillery! The beautiful dancing horse, Gen. Sherman. Horse college, mule monitor, horse teacher, clown ponies, clown donkeys, champion skaters, elegant singers. Horse opera! Horse comedy! Horse drama! Troupe of performing dogs. Equines assisted by canines. An entertainment indescribably wonderful and novel; has proved the greatest success that ever visited the Eastern cities.

POPULAR PRICES, 25c and 50c.

A BIG DEAL.

THE SALE OF THE SECOND-STREET CABLE RAILROAD.

E. A. Hall and H. C. Witmer Dispose of that Valuable Property to James M. McLaughlin for $130,000—Improvements Promised.

One of the most remarkably successful new enterprises in Los Angeles is the Second-street cable road. Begun 18 months ago, it was built over the tremendous hills west of Fort street and ran a mile through lands then as desolate as the desert—untenanted save by the ground-squirrel and the cotton-tail. Comparatively few people had the remotest idea that those hills would ever be inhabited; and the projectors of the road were laughed at and "guyed" by wholesale. There was a very general belief that the road would never be completed, and that if it were the builders were cranks. Even the builders, whose foresight has since been remarkably vindicated, were sanguine enough to hope only that the road would some time pay. They had about 1400 lots along its line, and hoped to work these off in a few years by the aid of the quick transit provided by the road. They went on with the work, dug their big trench, made their tremendous cuts and fills—aggregating something like 75,000 cubic yards of earth in all—laid their track, put up their substantial engine-house, put in the costly machinery and fine rolling stock, and started. The road has now been running 14 months, and has been a paying investment from the first day. They had carefully figured out that they could, at the very utmost, carry 600 passengers a day. In December, 1886, the road carried 42,000 passengers—an average of 1354 a day! And this already large business is growing every day.

This was the pioneer cable road of Southern California, the first on the coast outside of San Francisco. It made Los Angeles the fourth city in the United States to have a cable road. It has run every day for 14 months, and has never had an accident. To it is due the upbuilding of what is already a large and fast-growing community on the hills west of Bunker Hill avenue and south of First street. As it proved a brilliant success, the Temple-street cable road was built and several others are franchised and assured.

THE ROAD SOLD.

Yesterday the papers were signed by which President Edward A. Hall and Treasurer H. C. Witmer, the real owners and the principal promoters of the road, sold their interest to James M. McLaughlin, who has been for a year connected with the road. He now holds 4944 shares of stock out of a total of 5000 shares. The price paid for the franchise, road-bed, machinery, rolling-stock and all other equipments of the road—including the fine park near its western terminus—was in the neighborhood of $130,000. The Los Angeles Improvement Company goes on without change, Mr. McLaughlin's purchase affecting only the road and the park. As an example of what the road has done for that section it may be mentioned that of its original 1400 lots the company has left only 52.

Mr. McLaughlin, who is a son of the noted New York publisher of juvenile books, will crowd the improvements as fast as possible, and will bring in a large amount of new capital to the job. He will double-track the road, improve the park till it is the finest in Southern California, and stir up things in the line of general progress. It is also understood that he contemplates a dummy line from the western terminus of the cable road to the proposed Baptist College. He is an intelligent, reliable and progressive man, and will doubtless make his mark here.

The complete retirement of Edward A. Hall, who resigns the presidency of the road at a meeting of the directors today, will be an appreciable loss to the business circles of Los Angeles. He finds himself completely broken down in health, and will settle upon some fine property along the foothills where he can let business alone and give health a chance. Mr. Hall has been at the front of some of the most important enterprises which have developed Los Angeles within the last two years. His intelligent and tireless work has made a lasting impress, and his course has earned the respect and liking of those with whom he has come in contact. It is hoped that the out-door life he purposes to lead will recuperate his health speedily.

Mr. Witmer, who also retires from the road, will retain his residence and other business interests in this city. His $80,000 bank block, now in process of erection at the southwest corner of Fort and Second streets will probably suffice to keep him from idleness, though he has other valuable irons in the fire.

HEADQUARTERS.

Gen. Miles's Staff Here And Full of Business.

A TIMES representative called yesterday afternoon at the St. Vincent building, on Sixth street, and found Gen. Mile's staff busy preparing things for headquarters. Maj. M. Barber, Adjutant-General, and Col. Drum, Inspector-General, were the chief figures, and they were selecting rooms and otherwise getting matters into running order. All of Gen. Miles's staff is now here except Chief Paymaster Glynn and Medical Director Alexander, and Lieuts. Dapray and Gatewood, the aides. Gen. Miles himself will be here now in a few days, coming from the East, where he has been on a short visit. Adjt.-Gen. Barber packed up his office at Prescott, Ariz., Saturday, and opened it here Monday morning. He has his clerical force at work in the large room at the southwest corner of the building, first floor. The building is leased to the Department till the 30th of next June. There will be no troops here whatever—an arrangement which the officers enjoy, for good and sufficient reasons. The business transacted by the Adjutant-General amounts to about $2,000,000 a year.

The Seed Postage Bill.

The following petition, signed by about 500 citizens, will be forwarded to Washington today:

To the Congress of the United States: The undersigned citizens of the United States hereby petition your honorable body and request that Senate Bill No. 1636, designed to reduce the postage on seeds, scions, bulbs, and plants, by transferring them to third-class matter, or some similar measure, may be passed at as early a date as practicable. We regard such a change in the postal laws, in the interest of the people in general and particularly of all who have a garden or piece of land of any description for cultivation. The item of time is important because farmers and others must soon make their plans for obtaining seeds for spring planting.

THE KILLING OF TALICE.

Coroner's Inquest—No Eye-witnesses of the Deed—The Verdict.

The Coroner's inquest upon the remains of Alessandro Talice was held at the undertaking rooms of Garrett & Neitzke yesterday evening, at 7 o'clock. After being sworn, the jury inspected the body.

Dr. I. E. Cohn was sworn: Had held a post mortem examination upon the body of Talice. Found a knife wound on left side and 1 inch left of mammary line, 1½ inches above the umbilicus. Wound passes through the abdominal walls inward and upward. Found abdominal cavity filled with blood and serous fluid. Lungs showed signs of pneumonia in second stage and also tubercular deposits. Cause of death peritonitis and internal hemorrhage.

Examined by Assistant District Attorney Dupuy: Dr. Cohn said he could not answer the question whether the wound caused the man's death. It shortened his life. Was not necessarily calculated to cause death per se. Would probably ordinarily cause death. It was possible, but not necessarily probable. There was not much hemorrhage from the wound. The hemorrhage was due to the inflammation process of peritonitis, superinduced by the knife wound.

Tom Jurovich was sworn: Knew Talice a short time. Was outside when he was cut. Went inside and saw deceased lying on the floor. Only saw Vedani and Talice's wife there. The deceased said, "I am dead!" Vedani said nothing. The latter was standing about 3 feet from Alessandro. Could not describe the knife exactly. Vedani had the knife. Held it so (indicating, with blade pointed upward). Helped lift up the wounded man. Then, when the police came they took him in charge. (Knife shown.) Could not identify it. Didn't hear Vedani say anything. Saw no one else in the room.

Dr. Cohn again placed placed on the stand. Said the wound could have been inflicted upon the deceased with the knife (shown) by a person standing in front of another, using his right hand and thrusting upward. The hemorrhage referred to by him was one of the smaller mesenteric arteries.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff P. M. Darcy, sworn: About 10 minutes before 5 on Saturday evening he heard an unusual noise and a woman's screams at the Old Roma Hotel. Was sitting at supper. Rushed out bareheaded and saw a crowd of men in front of the house. Saw a man in the middle of the crowd with a knife in his hand. Rushed up and took the knife away from him. Some one cried out that the man had killed the hotelkeeper. Stopped a carry-all which was going by. Put the man into it. Two or three gentlemen came along in the wagon. One had a police star, but did not know who he was. Took the man to jail, and in giving the knife to the jailer asked the prisoner if this was the knife he killed the man with. He said it was the knife he stabbed him with. Asked him if he was drunk. He said he was not. Turned the prisoner over to the jailer.

Among the witnesses present when the knife was shown were Harry Brook, Tom Jurovich and Jailer Thompson.

James Thompson sworn: Examined the knife, which he said he received from Capt. Darcy, who brought up a man who, he said, had killed another.

The jury returned a verdict that deceased came to his death by the infliction of a wound in the left side, made upon him with a knife in the right hand of Constantine Vedani.

[NOTE.—Vedani stated to a TIMES reporter, on the way to jail, as already published in the TIMES, that he had had a quarrel with Talice about money matters, and that Talice had struck him, whereupon he stabbed deceased.]

SOLD AT LAST.

The Santa Fe System Buys the L. A. and S. G. V. R. R.

Ever since the active operations of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad in Southern California there have been weekly rumors of the sale of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad—sometimes to that company and sometimes to some one else. These rumors have each time proved false, and the credence attaching to each successive one has grown less and less. Latterly report has divided the favors about equally between the two giant systems which were known to have a yearning for this short but valuable road; and one day the Santa Fé had bought it, while next day the Southern Pacific was the lucky purchaser.

THE TIMES, first, as usual, in the capture of important news, is at last in a position to state authoritatively that the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad has actually been sold, and that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad—which seems to "get away with" its great rival in every contest—is the purchaser. The last piece of red tape may not have been tied, but the sale is a dead-sure thing. The consideration is not yet made public. The recent visit of C. W. Smith, first vice-president and general manager of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, was known to be specially significant; and when he started back toward Topeka, last Saturday, he carried the whole thing in his pocket.

The present eastern terminus of the San Gabriel Valley road is at the San Gabriel River, which is being bridged as rapidly as possible. Between this and the new San Bernardino and Los Angeles Railroad, which is now being rapidly pushed from San Bernardino, there is a gap of about 35 miles. It will not take long to close this gap with a strong force working at each end. It is promised that trains will be running from San Bernardino to this city over the new road inside of sixty days—inside of ninety days sure. It is probable that neither of the component parts of the new line will retain its present name. The vast system to which they belong will, as soon as possible, incorporate all its lines under one name—The Chicago, Santa Fé and California Railroad. As our telegraphic dispatches have already set forth, it is now building its line to Chicago. So it goes on from success to success, by legitimate business enterprise and the keenest intellectual generalship to the position from which no rival will readily crowd it—the greatest and the best managed railway system in the world.

Judge Brunson as a Real-estate Expert.

Six months ago certain guardians of minor children applied to Judge Brunson for legal permission to sell ten acres of real estate at Pasadena, stating that they could get $800 an acre for it. One year before it was worth only $250 per acre. Judge Brunson said that if the CAMULOS.

THE REAL HOME OF HELEN HUNT JACKSON'S "RAMONA."

An Exquisite Spot in the Santa Clara Valley, the Scene of a Famous Novel—Its Identity Fully Established.

With all the thousands of columns of writing—good, bad and indifferent—that has been done with Southern California as the text, this modern Garden of Eden has thus far found place in but one standard and widely-known book. That book is "Ramona," the last—and by many esteemed the best—work of the lamented Helen Hunt Jackson. It is so well known throughout the United States that no review of the book is necessary to the purposes of this article, which is written only with reference to the scene in which the plot was laid. The characters in "Ramona" are probably all ideal; but the spot in which they are pictured as living, moving and having their being, is a faithful picture from life.

The old stage road from this city to San Buenaventura—and now the new Southern Pacific extension from Newhall also—runs down the beautiful valley of the Santa Clara River from the Newhall hills. Seventeen miles from Newhall, and four or five over the line into Ventura county is the old Camulos rancho—a dream of quiet loveliness and one of the few remaining specimens of the finest of those old principalities which the wealthy Spanish families had before the crowding Yankee usurped the coast. It is a little kingdom in itself. Once its lordly acres were many a league across; and even now, when only the nucleus is left, the rancho covers 1350 acres. It nestles in the loveliest hollow of all the lovely valley; girt by high, swelling hills upon whose crests white crosses consecrate the valley to God. Beside it twinkles the silvery ribbon of the Santa Clara, whose waters feed its smiling orchards of orange, lemon, lime, olive, pomegranate and walnut, and its broad acres of huge-stemmed vineyard. The house faces the river, and stands back half a thousand yards from the road, nearly hidden in semi-tropic green.

"The house was of adobe, low, with a wide veranda on the three sides of the inner court, and a still broader one across the entire front, which looked to the south. These verandas, especially those on the inner court, were supplementary rooms to the house. The greater part of the family life went on in them. Nobody stayed inside the walls except when it was necessary. Babies slept, were washed, sat in the dirt and played on the veranda, the women said their prayers, took their naps and wove their lace there. Old Juanita shelled her beans there and threw the pods down on the tile floor, till toward night they were sometimes piled up high around her like cornhusks at a husking. The herdsmen and shepherds smoked there, lounged there, trained their dogs there; there the young made love and the old dozed; the benches, which ran the entire length of the walls, were worn into hollows and shone like satin; the tiled floors were also broken and sunk in places, making little wells which filled up in times of hard rains and were then an invaluable addition to the children's resources for amusement and also to the comfort of the dogs, cats and fowls, who picked about among them, taking sips from each.

"The arched veranda along the front was a delightsome place. It must have been 80 feet long, at least, for the doors of five large rooms opened on it. The two western rooms had been added on, and made four steps higher than the others; which gave to that end of the veranda the look of a balcony or loggia. Here the Señora kept her flowers; great, red water jars, hand made by the Indians of San Luis Obispo Mission, stood on close rows against the walls, and in them were always growing fine geraniums, carnations and yellow-flowered musk. . . . Besides the geraniums and carnations and musk in the red jars, there were many sorts of climbing vines—some coming from the ground and twining around the pillars of the veranda; some growing in great bowls, swung by cords from the roof of the veranda, or set on shelves against the walls. These bowls were of gray stone, hollowed and polished, shining smooth inside and out. They also had been made by the Indians, nobody knew how many ages ago, scooped and polished by the patient creatures, with only stones for tools. . . . Between the veranda and the river meadows, out on which it looked, all was garden, orange grove and almond orchard; the orange grove always green, never without snowy bloom or golden fruit; the garden never without flowers, summer or winter; and the almond orchard, in early spring, a fluttering canopy of pink and white petals; which, seen from the hills on the opposite side of the river, looked as if rosy sunrise clouds had fallen and become tangled in the tree-tops. On either hand stretched away other orchards—peach, apricot, pear, apple, pomegranate—and beyond these vineyards. Nothing was to be seen but verdure or bloom or fruit, at whatever time of year you sat on the Señora's south veranda. A wide, straight walk shaded by a trellis, so knotted and twisted with grapevines that little was to be seen of the trellis woodwork, led straight down from the veranda through the middle of the garden to a little brook at the foot of it. Across this brook, in the shade of a dozen quarled old willow trees, were set the broad, flat stone washboards on which was done all the family washing."

That is a part of the description which Helen Hunt Jackson gives of the home of Ramona. It is also the description of the fine old house of the Camulos rancho. Throughout the book are many descriptive passages, all of which are completely appropriate. That Mrs. Jackson, who was a long-time guest at Camulos, portrayed the place as the scene of "Ramona," will not for an instant be doubted by those who have read the book and seen Camulos. The descriptions are unmistakable. Even the huge stone jars—now most rare—are there to-day, but now ranged about the fountain. The idea that Camulos was the home of Romona is not now advanced for the first time by any means; but it has not been stated as a fact, as it safely may be. The owners of Camulos were long deterred from acknowledging the fact owing to the nuisance of curiosity-seekers, who pestered them nearly to death; but they now admit it gracefully. It should be emphasized, however, that the Del Valles—the fortunate owners of this lovely home, in no way figure in the novel. The "Señora Moreno" of Ramona is a fiction as unlike as possible to the warm-hearted Señora Del Valle of Camulos.

A representative of THE TIMES, who recently visited Camulos, slept in "Father Salvierderra's" room at the west end of the front porch, dined in the long arbor, rode through the orchards and the vineyards, stood where "Alessandro" stood when he saw "Ramona."

The Camulos rancho is favored not alone in beauty. Its fertility is equally notable. No finer oranges grow than in its gold-globed groves. One must seek far to find the peer of its superb olive grove. Its grapes makes delicious wines and brandies, and all its fruits are of the highest grade. The rancho lies close to the famous placeres of Piru creek, where the first gold in California was discovered in 1837—on lands still belonging to the Del Valles. The new railroad is now completed many miles farther west, and a station will be erected at Camulos, so that the quiet old place will soon become one of the common sights for travelers along the steel highway.

A. F. Harmer, the talented artist who was with Gen. Crook in the celebrated Sierra Madre campaign of 1883 against Geronimo and the other renegade Apaches, has passed some time at Camulos; and in his studio in the Opera House block may be seen some beautiful and interesting paintings of "Ramona's" home. Among them is a fine water-color showing the south porch and "Padre Salvierderra's" room. Another is a water-color of the three old bells, their quaint frame backed by the deep green of the orange orchard. There is an extremely life-like oil painting showing the front porch, with the drive in front and the edge of the orange trees, the vista leading to the olive grove to the west. Perhaps the gem of the whole collection is an oil of the great arbor, mentioned in the above extract from "Ramona." One looks through its beautiful arch toward the house, charmed with the exquisite reality of its light and shade as the warm California sun leaks through its interwoven vines and flecks the walk with leafy prints. The pictures are well worth a visit by those who would like to know how "Ramona's" home really looks. It is the next thing to a visit to that hospitable casa itself.

LET HIM GO.

A Call for the Scalp of Gen. Hazen.

THE TIMES has duly noted the fact that the Signal Service Department has decided to cut off Los Angeles from the telegraphic weather reports which are so valuable to us here, and has published the strong protest sent to Washington by our wide-awake Board of Trade. Now comes the San Francisco Chronicle of Tuesday, and camps thuswise on the trail of the Signal Service, meantime paying a very graceful and just compliment to Los Angeles, "the most flourishing city in the State." Following is the Chronicle's editorial:

SHOULD BE REMOVED.

Gen. Hazen seems to have an especial quarrel with California, and to be disposed to oppose everything which is for our interest. He used the power which he has to summarily remove Lieut. Glassford from his position in this city, and to send him to Arizona, and that in the face of a strong petition for his retention from the merchants of this city and leading viticulturists, who knew his capability for his duties, and the uniform courtesy and politeness with which he performed them. It was of no avail. Gen. Hazen preëmptorily ordered him to Arizona, and he had to go.

Now the latest move of this petty autocrat is to cut off Los Angeles from telegraphic weather reports, upon the alleged ground that he has no money to keep up the service. The most flourishing city in the State, with its surrounding country, is to be deprived of all benefit of the Signal Service, because in all probability, somebody or something has offended the high and mighty potentate who rules the Department of Probabilities with a rod of iron. It is well known that he is a man of small mind, nourishing petty spites and dislikes, and using his power to vex and annoy those with whom he has had difficulty.

This despot of the Signal Service Bureau should be suppressed, and it could be done in one or two ways: either to remove him from the Signal Service or to remove the Signal Service from him. The former would probably be more difficult than to get rid of the fabled old man of the sea. He is probably so firmly fixed in his seat by yards of red tape and cords of sealing wax that it would take more of a wrench than a Democratic Secretary of War is capable of giving to get him out. But Congress can accomplish the latter plan by taking the whole matter away from the army and vesting its control and management in a new department, that of agriculture and commerce. Such a department as this, with no less an officer than a secretary in charge of it, has long been demanded by the country. Every session sees petition after petition presented for the appointment of a Secretary of Agriculture, and he might well join to his duties those of a care of commerce as well; and in the event of the creation of such a department the Signal Service would very properly come within its jurisdiction.

Merchants and farmers are the people who need and use the Signal Service, and it is clearly to their interest that it should not be subject to the whims and caprices of some starched West Pointer like Hazen, who is so extremely careful about his dignity that he is always uncomfortable, but should be in the direct charge of a department specially created for the welfare of the leading industries of the nation. Even if it were thought proper that officers of the army should be employed by the bureau, they could be detailed for such special service, and in such case not be subject to assignment at a moment's notice to Arizona or Dakota because some general or colonel had taken umbrage at some thing they had done, or which he thought they had done. There is need of immediate improvement in the way the affairs of this bureau are carried on at Washington, and the simplest plan will be to take the conduct of its affairs entirely away from such men as Gen. Hazen and turn it over to a civil department.

CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APplied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic feature is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acrid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downward, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with gluish tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucus into the throat so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged by way of the nostrils or throat in lumps or fragments of a deep green tint. In some cases these incrustations accumulate to such an extent as to form a regular plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort. So firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; not unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which, in time, may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, slimy secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities and then putrefies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering, and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are others in which all the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the bones of the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression over the forehead, especially in the region above and between the eyes, and to a feeling of fulness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes there is pain obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbids, and, occasionally, pain manifests itself in the face of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted and at times assumes an exceeding fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable, stuffy sensation in the head, and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffing duality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent attempts to clear the parts of phlegm, producing the sound "hem," more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fulness, or a choky sensation in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness, for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of a constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious and nearly always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility, is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment seriously threatened.

The mucous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest causes, so that at last a breath of wind upon the lining of the nose or throat becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, each attack aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse and involving a larger extent of surface than its predecesser. In this manner the difficulty spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larnyx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, encroaching further and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless the disease has advanced to the chest and that both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address

A FINANCIAL SCHEME.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you be so kind as to allow a stranger to give vent to his thoughts through the columns of your able paper. I am from San Francisco, and notice a wonderful difference here in the personal appearance and conduct of the mechanical and laboring classes, from those in San Francisco. Here, they are well-dressed, steady, and nearly all church-goers. They are the reverse in San Francisco. I see the cause of this in your high license. Your restaurants here do not give liquor at meals, like San Francisco; then you have no corner-grocery dens, like the latter city. The restaurants in San Francisco is where the respectable young men commence to drink; and the corner grog and grocery shops are the incubators of all crimes. I was opposed to high license, but seeing its wonderful blessing here, I say it is a thousand times better than the foolish agitation for prohibition.

Your city is much in need of a large public library and reading-room, at least I have neither seen nor heard of one here. You also very much need factories here. This city has a large and wonderfully-increasing population to provide for in mechanical tools, clothing, household furniture, etc., not to mind the vast territory that this city supplies with the same, or at least, ought to. You are well circumstanced to become a manufacturing city; but it is a slow process waiting for capital to come and start them. Now, I will suggest a plan that will start the good work at once, and a plan that every man, woman and child can aid in, and will feel anxious to do so. There are two sources by which the wealth of California flows into and is lost to the State. I allude to the Louisiana and Chinese lotteries. Twenty-five thousand dollars a month, at the lowest calculation, go to Louisiana or China through those lotteries. Why not keep the money at home by returning half to contributors, and start factories, libraries, etc., with the other half? This is my proposition: Let everyone contribute monthly as many dollars as they please; half of the amount to go toward a fund to start factories, and when each is in good running order to be sold, the purchase money going back to the factory-starting fund, the other half to be divided into, say, so many five-thousand lots, and to be drawn for as premiums to those who contributed the money for their noble conduct in starting factories. Some may oppose this plan, but such hair-splitters can be easily quited. Let the first and second money contributed go toward a good library and reading-room. Yours,

A WHOLE-SOULED CHRISTIAN.

AN IMPOSITION ON LAND BUYERS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I notice with a great deal of satisfaction your course regarding real estate misrepresentations, and the public will not fail to extend to you a full measure of indorsement for the same. The only trouble is that, thus far, the parties to these reprehensible dealings have not been singled out and shown up, that the thousands of buyers, many of whom are workingmen and women, might steer clear of them and not be caught in the net of the imposter. A glaring case in point: In April last, as may be seen by reference to the advertising columns of the city papers, a self-styled land company of this city (of very unsavory San Francisco memory, by the way), gave out by spread-eagle publication that certain important and valuable improvements were to be made upon the "Urmston tract," situate just outside the corporate limits of the city; that, in addition, three street-railroad lines were to run by the tract very soon, using such publication as the means to sell the 378 lots, which, it is unnecessary to add, went off as though on eagles' wings. The purchasers were induced to buy because of these misrepresentations, and how have the promises been performed? A few little houses, a short and narrow line of very cheap and badly built cement sidewalks and some bad plank walks, light from the small electric poles semi-occasionally, and that is all! The chief and all-important condition—the condition without which the property with the remaining promises unfilled could not be valuable—the street railroads—are not there, nor is there even one line where three were promised. More than this, this grand promiser refused to take any interest in a line down Vermont avenue where the property-owners are endeavoring to raise a fund to secure a road, alleging that he has sold out, etc. Again he is now, in his usual flamboyant style, deceiving the public by referring to the cable road down Vermont avenue, which does not exist, which is only a possibility, which he has before used to get money from hundreds of wage-workers, and which he has done more than any one else to prevent. Is this man going to repeat his San Francisco business in Los Angeles? It looks mighty like it, unless THE TIMES takes its stout club down. Yours, PROPERTY-OWNER.

CAST-OFF CLOTHING WANTED.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The ladies of the Benevolent Society are greatly in need of clothing for the suffering poor now on their hands. The cold weather has greatly increased the number of sufferers, and also intensified their necessities, and in our city there must be many who have garments that they will no longer use. Will they not gladly contribute them for the immediate relief of pressing needs? Packages may be sent to 438 Hope street, on every Friday afternoon, or Mrs. Ducommun, 28 Ducommun street, will send for them if informed where they are. The ladies of the Benevolent Society are also greatly in need of an invalid chair on rollers. Will not some kind-hearted, generous person take pleasure in supplying this pressing necessity either as a loan or donation? The condition of a suffering, dying man now on our hands, and similar cases continually occurring, make such a chair a matter of primary importance in carrying on our work.

Mrs. DUCOMMUN and Mrs. BATH.

No. 608—Fine ranch, near city, 107 acres, all level land, fine soil, small orchard; house of 6 rooms, good well, windmill and tank, barn, corrall, shade trees, etc., a bargain for a few days only, per acre. 55
One hundred acres very choice foothill land, free from frost; desirable for raising winter vegetables; requiring no irrigation; the finest land in the State; improvements; will divide it; 2 miles from city limits; on payments; per acre. 300

This land is susceptible of a high state of cultivation; will produce from two to four crops per annum, owing to the variety planted, such as melons, potatoes, tomatoes, peppers, peas, beans, cabbages, etc.; $100 per acre net profit is but a fair estimate on each crop; this sum was realized per acre the present season from this winter vegetable land; winter tomatoes will yield much more than $100 per acre net, and melons and potatoes will average that amount; we plant tomatoes in August, potatoes in October, November and January, and then follow with melons, on the same ground, which will bring a return of $100 per acre net, without one drop of water; this soil will remain moist the entire year by proper cultivation; ten acres will make a man wealthy in a few years if properly cultivated; must be seen and investigated to be appreciated.

Part of the above tract has recently been sold to parties who will at once erect residences thereon.

Twenty acres on Pico st., at terminus of the electric railroad; suitable to subdivide into lots; a bargain; per acre. 1000
Fifty-seven acres on Pico st., ¾ of a mile from terminus of electric railroad; an abundance of water; desirable to cut into acre lots; for a short time only, per acre. 300

IVANHOE

700 ACRES

DIVIDED INTO ONLY

1400 LOTS.

Price of Lots, $150 Each. First Payment, $20.

Succeeding Payments $10 Monthly, Without Interest.

The entire tract is beautifully situated, with a charming view, pure air and water and perfect drainage. The Ostrich Farm Dummy Railroad runs through the tract, with a five-cent fare guaranteed to and from the center of the city. This road will be completed to the tract July 1, 1887. Pure and abundant water piped through all the streets.

Size of lots, 50x150 feet up to 5 acres. The average size of lots, half an acre. The uniform price of these lots is placed at $150; first payment $20 cash, with succeeding payments of $10 per month, without interest. This is a splendid investment for a very small amount of money.

When $100 has been paid on each lot, the entire number of lots will be distributed among the purchasers, on the same plan as that on which the Childs tract was distributed.

This tract is situated upon the hills, which are rapidly becoming the most desirable residence portion of the city. The soil is a warm, sandy loam, free from frost, being in what is known as the warm belt. The elevation is such that the temperature is more even than in the city.

Free carriage to the tract every day from the office of the agents. Maps and circulars and all information can be had from

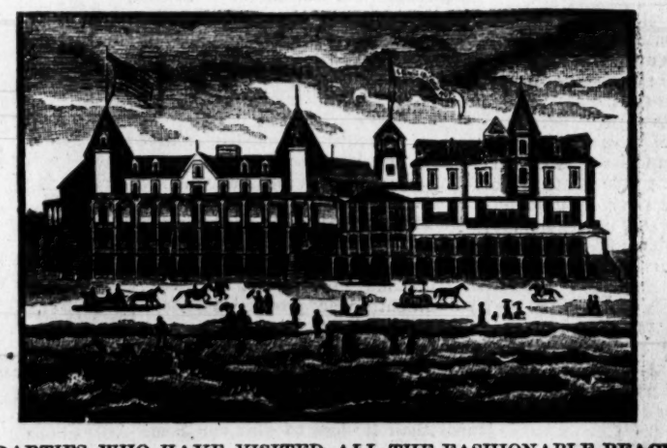
Popular Resorts

LONG BEACH HOTEL.



PARTIES WHO HAVE VISITED ALL THE FASHIONABLE BEACH resorts in the world are unanimous in saying that the bathing and beach at this place are equal, if not superior, to any.

The hotel is now open for the winter season, and is considered one of the most desirable in Southern California for comfort and pleasure. The favored location of the house is such that the sun shines into the rooms on the ocean side all day long, thus making a combination of sunshine and pure air from the Pacific that is not often found.

The beach drive for ten miles in front of the breakers is one of the greatest attractions in the vicinity of Los Angeles. Statistics prove that during the winter months the climate is warmer and more uniform than farther back from the coast. Trains for Long Beach connect at Long Beach Junction with all trains to and from San Pedro.

Fare, Round-trip Tickets, $1.

COWLEY & BAKER, Proprietors.

The Sierra Madre Villa Hotel.

OPEN ALL THE YEAR.

Acknowledged by all to be the most charming resort in Southern California.

And commanding the grandest view of the San Gabriel valley and Pacific ocean. Located on the south side of the Sierra Madre mountains, in the midst of an orange grove, at a hundred feet above the sea and fourteen miles from Los Angeles. The Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad passes within 1¼ miles of the Villa. 140 acres of orange, lemon, lime, grapes, walnuts, peaches, apples and figs; a beautiful lawn, flowers, etc. FOR COMFORT AND LIVING, PURE AIR AND SPARKLING MOUNTAIN WATER—which are so essential to health—it has no rival. Five trains daily each way. Telephone communication with Los Angeles. Trains leave Los Angeles at Downey ave. bridge, 9:25 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 5:30 p.m.; leave Lamanda Park, 7:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., 5:36 p.m. Sunday 10:15 a.m., 5:20 p.m., for Lamanda Park, where carriage meets all trains.

Our last year's crops have brought California more prominently before the world than ever before, ... there is scarcely a market of any ... nsiderable size in the country the... is not anxious to deal to some extent in the fruits and wines of this State.

There is no question but that California wines are steadily growing in favor wherever they have been introduced, and that the tendency is to let them supplant the foreign wines so largely adulterated. We have only to guard our native wines from adulteration, and to see to it that they are so placed upon the market that consumers are assured of their purity, to see this result accomplished. Various estimates have been made of the size of last year's vintage. Different authorities place it at from 16,000,000 gallons, to 25,000,000, making it larger by more than 100 per cent. according to the lowest estimate, than the yield for 1885, which was only 7,000,500 gallons.

The grape crop for 1886 was simply immense, amounting to, at least, 356,000,000 pounds. Of this great harvest 40,000,000 pounds have found their way to Eastern markets, to supply the tables of the well-to-do of that section, and have commanded popular favor. We have also consumed no less than 20,000,000 pounds of fresh grapes upon our home tables, while an additional 20,000,000 have been converted into brandy, and no less than 30,000,000 pounds were converted into as choice raisins as ever were imported into the United States. Of our various citrus fruits, the shipments have doubled those of last year, and, with low rates secured, the amount of these exports will rapidly increase.

It will be of immense advantage to our large wine makers and fruit growers when they shall be able to place their productions upon Eastern markets by means of their own well-established agents, thus doing away with all intervention of middlemen upon this coast, and by this means enabling them also to protect themselves against the selling of counterfeited and largely adulterated foreign wines as the California article, much to the injury of our native brands. To such agencies the Eastern consumer might send his orders and feel as sure that he received the genuine article as if he purchased it at the doors of our great wineries.

Large as were the results of last year's harvests, the fruit and wine interests of this great State are still in their infancy. There are still thousands of unoccupied acres admirably adapted to the vineyard and orchard that will yet be planted and made to yield abundant harvests. The possibilities for these industries in California are still largely in advance of all that has yet been accomplished, and if producers here can place their fruits and wines upon the Eastern markets in good condition, and are able to assure purchasers of their purity and genuineness, there will be nothing to hinder the Eastern States from looking to California for their supplies of this kind, as well as those of citrus and other fruits.

It is a good sign for our future also, to see California canned fruits displayed upon the shelves of leading fruit dealers in the East. There is encouragement, too, in the increased demand for both our dried and crystallized fruits, which are admittedly superior to all others with which they are brought into competition.

The large adulteration of foreign wines is also greatly in favor of the general introduction of our native ones. The consumer resents being humbugged in such purchases, and if there is any means of defense against it he will not be slow to avail himself of it.

To secure an almost unlimited sale of California productions, an honest and straightforward production is necessary. The purchaser should be protected against fraud, and only supplies of the best quality should be placed upon outside markets. It never pays ... send abroad the poorer articles any ... than it does to glut our home ... ith them. It is in the line of ... ions as with everything ... are, in the long run, ... producer and to ...

THE San Francisco Bulletin sizes up the Senatorial situation at Sacramento in the following forcible and sensible way: "The Democratic party has come to a point in the forks of the road. One fork leads toward the election of a man [Hearst] whose sole claim is that he has expended money to put his instruments in the Legislature, and that he will spend more if necessary to procure his election. The other leads in the direction of an election of some man who makes no money claim, and who does not for one moment hold that he has any right to preferment on account of his capital invested, or held in reserve. but who has every qualification for an influential member of the Senate. The Democratic party, in the matter of Senator, has come to a point where its integrity is at stake. If it has fallen under such control that a few miserable members in the Legislature may sell its highest honors, the 'grand old party' is as dead as carrion, on which nothing but maggots live."

THE definite announcement that the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad has been purchased by the A., T. and S. F. system, will be pleasant though not unexpected news to the people of Southern California in general and Los Angeles county in particular. The Santa Fé thus gains the best and shortest adit to Los Angeles, its western terminus. Under its wise encouragement—a policy to which Kansas can bear witness—a remarkably populous and prosperous country will be rapidly developed along that superb slope at the base of the mountain wall from San Bernardino to Los Angeles.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Mademoiselle Aimée afforded our theater-goers an opportunity last night to witness a performance of the English adaptation of Sardou's comedy entitled Divorcons. The play is intended as a satire on the divorce question, and it has achieved a certain notoriety as being one of the wittiest, but at the same time one of the most unblushingly indecent, of French light comedies. That this indecency has been toned down in the adaptation is a matter of course, and the delicate consideration of the translator is aptly instanced where he renders "galter" as the American equivalent for the French "jarretière."

The theme of the play is not new, and the first two acts appear to be taken bodily from an old French comedietta which was translated into English by Charles Dance under the title of Delicate Ground, and in which Charles Mathews played in 1850, sustaining the character of "Citizen Sangfroid" who is the prototype of the modern "Des Prunelles." But the last act is original, and even softened as it is, is yet as shameless as anything can well be upon the stage. The fact that the pair are husband and wife deprives the situation of none of its coarse suggestiveness. The piece serves no purpose "to point a moral or adorn a tale," and the laughter which some of its scenes may provoke is not a sign of any inherent merit in the play itself. The ability with which the two leading characters are played is indisputable, but such talent would be employed more worthily upon a comedy which did not present so many objectionable features as the latest literary piracy of Victorien Sardou.

OUR WEATHER REPORTS.

Senator Williams and Capt. Greely Promise Their Help.

The following correspondence touching the proposition to cut off this city from the accustomed telegraphic weather reports is self-explanatory:

SENATE CHAMBER, WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, 1887.

A. M. Lawrence, Esq.—DEAR SIR: Your favor of December 27th, inclosing the resolution of the Los Angeles Board of Trade, received. I shall take great pleasure in co-operating with Senator Stanford and Representative Markham in endeavoring to obtain continuance of the Signal Service reports at the Los Angeles station, and, if possible, to secure the enlargement of the service.

I will only add that the interest I have taken in affairs appertaining to your city is because I believed the requests of the people of Los Angeles to be right and just, and I shall continue to do all in my power to secure the appropriations for the construction of a public building referred to in your letter to me. Yours truly,

A. P. WILLIAMS.

SIGNAL OFFICE, WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, 1887.

Mr. A. M. Lawrence, Secretary Board of Trade, Los Angeles, Cal.—DEAR SIR: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 27th ult., with inclosures, in reference to discontinuance of weather reports to the Los Angeles station after the 1st inst.

In reply I have the honor to state that I will heartily coöperate with the Senators and members mentioned in any way to secure the desired end, and that, when the means are at my disposal, I will have the reports named furnished to the Board of Trade and people of Los Angeles.

A deficiency estimate of $18,000 is now before the House Appropriations Committee, and, if passed, will enable me to furnish these reports until July 1, 1887.

The Sundry Civil Bill for 1887-8 contains an item of $127,000 for telegraphing reports, which is $13,000 less than is needed. A vain attempt was made to amend the bill when it was before the House, and unless it is amended so as to appropriate at least $138,000, I will be unable to furnish these reports for the next fiscal year.

The fruit dealers of Colorado have almost identical interests with your people in this matter and are working to the same end. I sincerely hope that all your efforts will be crowned with success. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. W. GREELY, Captain Fifth Cavalry, A. S. O., and Assistant Acting Chief Signal Officer.

It Includes a Prohibition of Woman Suffrage in Utah.

The Debate on the Inter-State Commerce Bill Nearly Closed.

The Nominations of Ross and Risley Reported Favorably—Charges Preferred Against J. Marion Brooks—An Effort to Give Los Angeles Weather Bulletins.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The House to-day passed without division the Senate substitute for the Edmunds Anti-Polygamy Bill. The substitute makes the lawful husband or wife of any person prosecuted for bigamy, polygamy or unlawful cohabitation a competent witness against the accused, and further provides for the registration of all marriages, making it a misdemeanor for any person to violate the provisions relative to such registration. It annuls all Territorial laws providing for the identification of the votes of electors at any election, and also all laws conferring on the Territorial courts power to determine divorce cases, and abolishes woman suffrage in the Territory of Utah. Penalties are prescribed for unlawful intercourse, and polygamy is defined as a marriage between one person of one sex and more than one person of another sex, and is declared to be a felony. The financial corporations known as the Church of the Latter Day Saints and the Perpetual Emigrant Fund Company are dissolved, and the Attorney-General is directed to wind them up by process of the courts, and all laws for organized militia of the Territory and the creation of the Nauvoo Legion are annulled. Polygamists are made ineligible to vote, and a test oath is prescribed to all persons desiring to vote that they will obey the laws of the United States, and especially the laws in respect to the crimes defined in this and the original Edmunds's Act. The bill provides for the immediate appointment by the President of all judges and selectmen of the counties and of the probate courts, and by the Governor of all justices of the peace, sheriffs, constables and other county and district officers. The bill, as amended by the adoption of the substitute, will now be transmitted to the Senate for the action of that body.

THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE BILL.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Inter-State Commerce Bill and was addressed by Mr. Call, who declared his concurrence in the great objects of public policy that were sought to be carried into effect by the original bill and by the conference report. Mr. Call referred to the fact stated in the work of Pool that the capitalization of the railroads of the country exceeds their actual cost by $3,000,000,000. The rates charged for transportation were to pay interest and dividends on this fictitious and pretended capital. People were now paying an annual tax of $300,000,000 on this fictitious capital. He could see nothing in that, if it were permitted to continue, but the ruin of the republic. He would vote for the pending bill because it would accomplish no great harm, but he regarded it as no remedy for the existing evils and no triumph for those who desire to see inter-State commerce regulated.

Mr. Brown made an argument in opposition to the bill.

Mr. Mitchell of Oregon said he very seriously doubted and had always doubted whether the short-and-long haul provisions would cheapen local freights, while on the other hand a vital blow would be struck by it at transcontinental and through commerce and also at the foreign commerce of the country. As a rule the great bulk of the profits realized by railroad companies come not from through business but from local business, and it was fair to assume that these companies would always look primarily to their own interest and not the interests of the general public. All would agree, therefore, that there would be no hesitation on the part of the transportation companies in abandoning their through-freight business rather than give up their profits on local business. For one, he did not prefer that result. He believed that in such an event there would be such secret combinations between the powerful transcontinental companies, including the water lines, as would increase through freight and thus enable them to maintain their present high charges on short hauls. He, therefore, believed that the provision would prove to be a cheat, deception and fraud. Mr. Mitchell laid great stress on the fact that the conditions and circumstances of through transcontinental business were entirely dissimilar to those of local business and that, therefore, the fourth section would not apply to it. He, therefore, declared that that section was an absolutely harmless piece of legislation, so far as the interests of the railroad companies were concerned, and was wholly and absolutely impotent and ineffectual so far as giving protection to the shippers was concerned. It was worse. than throwing a tub to the whale. He would vote for the recommittal of the bill with instructions to amend the second and fourth sections by striking out the words, "Under substantially similar circumstances and conditions."

Mr. Cullom stated that there were three or four Senators who desired to speak on the bill and who had engagements for this evening. He would not, therefore, ask for a vote tonight.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

NATIONAL NOTES.

Ross and Risley's Nominations Reported Favorably—Brooks's Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The nomination of Judge Ross and Marshal Risley have been reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee to the Senate. The nomination of J. Marion Brooks has not been reported by the committee, as some charges have been lodged against him. The nomination of United States District Attorney Carey has been confirmed by the Senate.

THE LOS ANGELES WEATHER SERVICE.

Senator Williams has offered an amendment to the Sundry Civil Bill increasing the appropriation for the Signal Service Bureau, so that weather bulletins to Los Angeles can be transmitted.

SAN DIEGO'S DEMANDS.

The Postmaster-General has been strongly urged during the past few weeks to grant the people of San Diego free delivery of postal matter. Mr. Vilas has promised to have an inspector sent from San Francisco to look into the matter, and if the population of that city comes up to the requirements of the law, then the request of the San Diego people is to be complied with.

TO FACILITATE PROMOTION.

In the Senate today, Manderson introduced a bill to facilitate promotion and to retire from active service on their own application, officers of the army who served during the war of the Rebellion three years as officers or enlisted men in the volunteer or regular army. The bill was referred.

TO EQUALIZE DUTIES.

Secretary Bayard has written a letter to Senator Sherman, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, in which he says he learns that there is a strong desire on the part of the government of Spain that raisins and currants, which now pay 1 and 2 cents per pound duty there, respectively, should pay the same duty on entering the United States. "It is represented to this department," says the Secretary, "that an equalization of the duties on these two articles would have a most beneficial effect upon the negotiations now pending between the two countries for a more liberal commercial intercourse." The Secretary favors the suggestion.

THE ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL.

Allison, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported back the Army Appropriation Bill, with amendments. Ordered printed.

WHAT THE FARMERS WANT.

The National Farmers' Congress adopted resolutions urging the passage by Congress of the following bills: To make the Commissioner of Agriculture a Cabinet officer; to extend the benefits of the signal service to farmers; to regulate inter-State commerce, and pass the Hatch Experimental Farm Bill. The resolutions also urge the enactment of legislation providing for a complete development of the system of water-ways of the whole country; that American ministers in France and Germany be instructed to use all proper means to prevent the placing of restrictions upon American farm products properly inspected and shipped. A resolution recommending the appropriation of $300,000 to be used for the purpose of stamping out contagious diseases was recommitted to the Committee on Resolutions.

YALE ALUMNI AT THE CAPITAL.

The reception rooms of Chamberlain's Hotel were crowded this evening by a brilliant assemblage of almuni of Yale College and invited guests gathered to do honor to President Dwight. The toast "Yale, the University," was responded to by President Dwight. The other toasts were responded to by Secretary Bayard, President Coppel, of Lehigh University, Senator Evarts, Secretary Whitney and others.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The Slayer of Guindon Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Late this afternoon the jury in the case of George D. Gardiner, charged with the murder of Eugene F. Guindon on August 29th of last year, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree. The jury had been out since 12 o'clock yesterday. The defendant's attorney will immediately move for a new trial. Guindon had escorted Gardiner's daughter to the Mechanics' Fair, and as they had refreshments after leaving there they did not return to her home until rather late. Gardiner was much irritated at this, and when he heard them arrive he rushed out and shot young Guindon as the latter was walking away.

HIGHWAYMEN AT WORK.

While S. J. Campbell, a butcher on the steamer Alameda, was going to his home, at No. 45 Ritch street, this morning, he noticed that he was followed by a man. At the corner of Folsom and Ritch streets two men suddenly stepped out of a doorway and asked him for a match. He said he had none, and the next thing he felt a blow on his head from behind. A police officer chanced along a few minutes after and saw Campbell lying on the sidewalk and three men running away. He hailed the runaways, but they only ran the faster. He chased them, and at the corner of Third and Folsom he fired a shot after them. Another officer in the vicinity captured Joseph Connolly, one of the fugitives. Campbell, who was badly used up, says he was robbed of $20.

CALVIN PRATT'S SENTENCE.

Calvin Pratt, the civil engineer, who was recently convicted of having swindled the Pacific Bank by means of forged checks, was sentenced by Judge Murphy this morning to 14 years in the State prison at Folsom.

THE STRIKERS' OPPOSITION LINE.

The striking carmen of the Geary and Sutter street roads, this afternoon put into execution their project of running an opposition to those roads. They ran five omnibuses along Post street, which runs parallel with Geary and Sutter streets. The busses were well patronized.

RAVAGES OF DIPHTHERIA.

The prevalence of diphtheria is causing much apprehension in this city. During the month of December seventy-six cases of that disease and forty-seven deaths were reported. Forty-four cases and fourteen deaths have already been reported this month. Six cases were reported yesterday and ten this morning. That portion of the city south of Market street is especially infected owing to the sewerage there being defective.

ROW OF BUILDINGS BURNED.

This afternoon a row of one-story frame buildings occupied as stores and real-estate offices were destroyed by fire. The losses will reach $11,000; insurance about $35000.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

The Southern Pacific Still Hankering After the Narrow-gauge Road.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The departure of Senator Fair for Washington, it is said, will probably result in the renewal of negotiations for the sale of the South Pacific Coast Railroad to the Southern Pacific. Huntington is believed to have been the main mover in the project for the purchase of the road, and after his departure for the East negotiations were neglected. It is stated that Fair will go to New York, where both Huntington and Crocker are at present. Huntington, it is reported, asked Fair to name his price for the road. Fair did so, stating at the same time the conditions upon which he would sell his property.

After much discussion a basis upon which the transfer could be made was agreed upon, as was also the price. At this juncture of the negotiations, Stanford and Crocker went East, delegating to Fred Crocker and Hopkins power to conclude the negotiations. They decided to issue bonds in the name of the South Pacific Coast Road, guaranteeing them in the name of the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, a guarantee which was more than perfectly satisfactory to Fair. A stumbling block was reached when the consideration of certain arrangements regarding the Oakland water front came into the negotiations. The details of the transfer called for a mortgage on the property as additional security to Fair, but, in drawing up this mortgage, the Southern Pacific people desired to exclude from it certain sections of land on the water front, which were included in the purchase. To this Senator Fair would not consent, and, after much wrangling, the negotiations were declared off. Fair intends taxing his line to its full capacity and means to extend the new Alameda branch of the Narrow-gauge Road as far as Gilroy.

New Bank in San Diego County.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The Bank Commissioners issued a license today for a new bank in San Diego county, to be known as the State Bank of San Jacinto. Its authorized capital is reported to be $50,000; the amount actually subscribed is $50,000, and the amount paid in coin is $10,000. The board of directors is comprised of C. P. Anderson, James Kerr, A. B. McCormick, Angelo Domenizoni, A. Saunders, J. A. Green, G. D. Compton, John Ryan and Francisco Estudillo, and the officers of the bank are C. P. Anderson, president; James Kerr, vice-president; J. A. Green, cashier; and G. T. Daggett, assistant cashier.

Both Branches of the Legislature in Session—White Introduces a Bill to Increase the Number of Superior Judges in Los Angeles County.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—[Special.] The day has brought forth a sensational rumor. It is to the effect that a combination has been worked by Boss Buckley, under which he agrees to deliver to the Republicans six Democratic votes to secure the election of Gen. W. H. L. Barnes to the Senate. The amount to be paid per head for the "cattle" is not stated, but it will, of course, be the highest market price. I give the rumor as a rumor. O.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The Senate met at 11 o'clock and received the report of the Committee on Rules. The rules were token up seriatim and adopted.

A vote being had on the rule taking the appointment of the committees from the President resulted in its adoption. Rule 35 provides that the rules may be suspended by a three-fifths vote. It was adopted by a party vote.

A resolution was adopted appointing committees as adopted.

Among the bills introduced today were the following:

By Mr. White—To provide for the election of two additional Judges of the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, to hold office after January 1, 1889, the salaries to be the same as those of the present judges.

By Mr. Bowers—To repeal section 1422 of title 8 of the Civil Code. The effect of this would be to abolish riparian rights.

By Mr. Moffitt—To establish a State weather service in San Francisco, under a board of control, consisting of the presidents of the State University and Academy of Sciences and the United States Signal Service officer. The board shall appoint a director of the service, at a salary of $1800 a year. The director shall establish volunteer weather stations throughout the State, and, by the assistance of the State Printer, disseminate monthly reports throughout the State. Four thousand dollars for the purchase of instruments, etc., and $6000 for conducting the service for two years are to be appropriated.

Assembly.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—The Assembly met at 11 o'clock. A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of five to ascertain how much money is on deposit in the banks of California, which has escheated to the State.

Mr. Brierly of Los Angeles introduced a bill fixing the number of voters in each precinct of the State at not to exceed 300.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Rucker restoring William T. Wheeler, of San José, to citizenship, he having been deprived of his rights by conviction for grand larceny in 1855.

After the adoption of the report of the Committee on Attachés, and the introduction of a number of bills the Assembly adjourned until tomorrow.

Among the bills introduced in the Assembly was one by Granger by which a joint Legislative Convention is to declare the vote for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, and in case of a tie in the popular vote it shall choose the candidates.

SUTRO TUNNEL.

The Stockholders Taking Measures to Prevent a Foreclosure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] A meeting of the Sutro tunnel stockholders was held here today, and was well attended, Many prominent mining operators were present. E. W. Smith called the meeting to order. Theodore Sutro, of this city, presented a petition for signatures. It is addressed to the Nevada United States Circuit Court. He said that it was an absolute necessity that the stockholders should sign it in order to protect their rights. The petition recites that McAllmont Bros., of London, holders of the recent mortgages, had acquired and remained in control of the company's property through ownership of a bare majority of stock, that the trustees and officers elected by the mortgagees have now made a formal answer to the application for foreclosure and cannot be expected to protect the minority of the stockholders. In conclusion, the petition asks that the signers or any one of them be allowed to defend the suit by separate counsel, also that the final hearing be postponed in order to give them time to prepare evidence.

The resolution was unanimously adopted. The following committee, all signers, was appointed to protect the minority of the stockholders: H. H. Thayer, Brizie Gray, O. C. Rieffa, L. Vonhoffman & Co., H. Bathazar, Herman Storrs, Palmer & Loengarde, Simon S. Stone, Charles G. Toga, J. S. Bernheim, C. W. Smith, R. Martinson and John Bondiere.

The petition will be forwarded to Nevada. Statements were read, showing that the original mortgage was for $124,000. It was increased to $557,000 in 1874. Now the principal is about $1,000,000, with accrued interest of $600,000. The earnings of the company for the first six months of 1886 were $20,000 per month. Since November 1st they have been $40,000. The suit to foreclose was brought by Hugh McAllmont, of London. The final hearing will be had in the United States Court in March.

The More Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The Supreme Court has taken under advisement the appeal in the case of The People vs. Alexander P. More, after arguments made by District Attorney J. J. Boyce for The People and R. B. Canfield for the defendant. More killed a Chinaman on Santa Rosa Island on the 29th of June, 1884. In June of last year Judge Hatch, of Santa Barbara, dismissed the case. The arguments today were upon a motion to set aside the order of Judge Hatch.

Train-wreckers at Work on the Missouri Pacific—Fatal Result.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The south-bound passenger train on the Missouri Pacific extension which left Omaha last night and was due here this morning was wrecked near Dunbar, Neb., about midnight. The wreck was caused by the loosening of a rail, the work of parties unknown. Several spikes and fish-plates had been removed, and the train coming along at the rate of 30 miles per hour plunged 15 feet down an embankment and landed in a snow-drift. James Dewitt, of Wyandotte, Kan., the engineer, was caught under the boiler and killed. The body had not been recovered at last accounts. Frank Menewith, express messenger, whose home is in this city, was internally hurt and may die. A lady, whose name was not learned, was badly hurt, but the other passengers were not seriously injured as far as known here. All were shaken up, however, and more or less bruised. The Missouri Pacific officials here state that the wreck is the result of a third attempt upon the life of Dewitt, the engineer. They say that some of the men engaged in the strike last spring cherished a grudge against Dewitt because he was an active supporter of the company during the great strike. The Sheriff and several others are searching the neighborhood, and a reward will be offered for the wreckers. A number of California excursionists were among the party.

TARIFF REFORM.

A Strong Demonstration in Favor of Reduced Taxation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] A tariff reform meeting, under the auspices of the Free-trade Club of New York, was held tonight at Cooper Union, the hall of which was filled. Everett P. Wheeler called the meeting to order, and presented Jackson S. Schultz, as chairman. He was in favor of a revenue tariff, not a protective tariff. President Cleveland and Secretary Manning were lauded for the "statesmanlike manner of presenting the question to Congress."

Editor W. F. Dawson, of the Charleston News and Courier, made a strong plea in favor of reducing the burdens of taxation upon Southern farmers, declaring that the South was no longer rebellious, and only asked for a fair opportunity to reap the fruits of its toil.

Henry George was called for at the close of Dawson's address. He said he wanted more than tariff reform. He wanted to abolish the whole tariff, root and branch. He thought Cleveland's arguments in favor of tariff reform had been weak.

THE CHICAGO CITRUS FAIR.

It Draws to a Close—The Scheme Fairly Successful.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The managers of the Northern California Citrus Fair have determined to close the exhibit tonight. They had thought of keeping it open all the week, but the fruit has been so long on exhibition that much of it was deteriorating, and they did not care to have their stock curtailed or of poor quality. The managers profess to be well pleased with the result of their venture here, and think it will have a good effect as regards making a good Eastern market for their products, and perhaps in a measure influencing immigration. Their expenses slightly exceed their receipts, but they hardly expect to clear anything and certainly do not come with that object in view. If their coming had been advertised and announced more freely it would no doubt have resulted in a largely increasing number of visitors. As it was a large body of residents were just becoming aware of their presence here.

Lieut. Greely Urges the Establishment of a State Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Lieut. Greely, acting Chief United States Signal Officer, has written a letter from Washington to Prof. Davidson, President of the California Academy of Sciences, in regard to the proposed establishment of a State weather service, which will be urged upon the present Legislature. He says that if such organization is effected, he will do everything to promote the utmost harmony between such service and the Signal Bureau. He further says that whenever the Legislature takes such action as secures the formation of the service he will make every effort to furnish a competent observer and afford such aid as lies in his power.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] After rejectiog Senator Drake's resolution today, Senator Campbell presented to the Senate Lieut-Gov. Robertson's formal claim in writing to the office of President of the Senate as Lieutenant-Governor, and it was read for information. It is as follows:

To the Indiana Senate—GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to inform you that having taken the oath of office which is here attached, I am in possession of the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the State of Indiana. I am able to attend your sessions and ready to enter upon the constitutional functions prescribed in section 2 of article 5 of the State Constitution to wit: To be President of the Senate with the rights and duties in said section, provided that you have in my judgment wrongfully excluded and prevented me from exercising that function of duty of my office. Against this, your action, I do hereby most earnestly protest and remonstrate and respectfully demand my rights.

(Signed) R. I. ROBERTSON,
Lieutenant-Governor.

A copy of the oath of office which had been administered by Judge Walker was attached to the claim.

A motion to reject prevailed by a party vote. Senator Winter announced that the Republican minority would consider Col. Robertson as Lieutenant-Governor and Senator Smith as an usurper in maintaining the office, and the latter invited Senator Winter to test the matter in the courts.

At a late hour this afternoon President pro tem. Smith filed a quo warranto proceedings against the Lieutenant-Governor-elect. The papers were filed in the Marion Circuit Court, and the hearing will begin before Judge Ayres at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Judge Ayres, before whom Smith's complaint was filed, is the judge who held that his court had not jurisdiction when Smith sought to restrain the Secretary of State from transmitting the result of the vote on Lieutenant-Governor to the Speaker of the House, which ruling was sustained by the Supreme Court. A speedy decision of the present case is expected.

JERSEY POLITICS.

The Legislature not yet Organized—The Recent Ruction.

TRENTON, Jan. 12.—The two policemen, who exercised their authority in the Assembly Chamber yesterday, were arrested today, but were at once admitted to bail, the object of the arrest simply being to lay ground for proceedings against Gov. Abbett, who directed the policemen's action. The purpose of the regular Democrats to organize the Assembly on their own basis has been abandoned. The House met this morning with Speaker Baird in the chair, and the members-elect were sworn in.

TRENTON (N. J.), Jan. 12.—The Senate met at 3 p.m. and organization was again postponed to tomorrow afternoon at 3 p.m. In the House Gov. Abbett's message was received and ordered printed.

THE IRISH LEAGUE.

Meeting of the Executive Council—Resolutions Adopted.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The Executive Council of the Irish National League of America assembled here today, President John Fitzgerald in the chair. Twenty-five members were present. A long series of resolutions were adopted on the plan of campaign in Ireland. They conclude as follows:

Resolved, that we stigamatize the intervention of the government as a shamefully partisan procedure, illustratative of the despotic manner in which the benefit of English law is persistently denied to the Irish people, and we hereby recall renewed attention to the fact that the government of Ireland irrespective of special coercive legislation is in the normal condition of its execution a savage and irresponsible tyranny.

Resolved, that we characterize the course of the English government in jury-packing, in coercing the legal opinion of its functionaries, in prescribing the lawful assemblage of citizens in their own streets, in employing military and police to brutalize peaceful people and bludgeon their chosen representatives, in violating the sanctuary of private trusts, as shameful cruelty and vindictively tyrannous.

Resolved, that we appeal to the American people for a continuance of that encouragement and sympathy which have been such important factors in leading our struggle up to its present stage of success, and in return we promise that the principles of equity which led them to repudiate imperial dictation a century ago shall be our guidance as they are our inspiration today.

After the adoption of resolutions of respect to the memory of Gen. Logan the council adjourned until tomorrow at 10 a.m.

ANGRY RIVERSIDE.

Indignant Denials of Reported Damage to the Orange Crop.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 10.—[By the Associated Press.] The fruit-growers and business men of Riverside are very indignant over the report given forth by the house of W. T. Coleman & Co. to the effect that half the orange crop of Riverside was destroyed by frost on Monday morning last. The report is false. On November last there was a frost here that affected a small percentage of the fruit in the lower portions of the settlement, but on Monday last the extreme cold was of so short duration that in most of the orchards the tender shoots grown within the past few weeks were not wilted. This cold snap did not do one-tenth the damage of the November frost. During the past few weeks since the 1st of December very many of the crops have been sold on the trees at high figures, being purchased by men who understood their business, and these prices would not have been paid for damaged fruit. Hon. A. P. Johnson states that not to exceed 2 per cent. of his fruit has been injured, and this is a fine sample orchard, and the crop of the entire valley will probably not exceed this estimate. These facts are given after careful interviews with leading orchardists and men who are posted.

Nevada's New Senator.

CARSON CITY (Nev.), Jan. 12.—The Legislature, in joint convention today, elected William Stewart United States Senator by a vote of 46 out of 69.

Frank McCullough (Rep.), was elected Warden of the prison by a unanimous vote of the Legislature today, the Democrats voting for him.

What Child's Play!

"Yes," said a tourist yesterday, "How silly and childish appear brass bands and free-lunch promises in the sober and serious business of selling real estate. Surely, we are not fools, to be caught by such chaff. Now, look at that long line of teams bearing lumber to the Jefferson-street tract! That is business-like and practical." Yes, and so are all the enterprises of the Southern California Land Company. Baker block.

To the Public—Main Street and Agricultural Park Railroad Company.

Drivers on this line are instructed to stop for passengers to get ON OR OFF only at the FAR CROSSINGS of streets AND NOT BETWEEN STREETS.

Our patrons are requested to govern themselves accordingly.

By order of the Board of Directors.

THE PALMS.

Ten Miles West of Los Angeles,

Five Miles East of Santa Monica.

No Cold Winters. No Hot Summers.

THE PALMS IS ON THE SANTA MONICA BRANCH OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC Railroad, has four daily trains, and is only ten minutes' ride by rail and thirty minutes by wagon road to the most popular seaside resort on the southern coast.

THE PALMS has the most even temperature summer and winter of any part of Southern California.

THE SOIL is a sandy sediment and loam of great depth, and is the natural home of the fig, olive, lemon, lime, apricot and that class of fruit that brings the largest profit in the local market.

PURE WATER is taken from gravel beds from 30 to 100 feet in depth, and is forced into a cement reservoir of 150,000 gallons capacity, which is covered by a roof to keep the water pure and cool for domestic purposes.

—NO SALOONS AT THE PALMS.—

Deeds contain a forfeiture clause prohibiting the sale of spirituous liquors. Size of town lots are 50x150 to a 20-foot alley. Villa lots from 5 to 10 acres each. Trees will be set out in the parks and on each side of every street.

Parties from Los Angeles can take the 9:30 a.m. train at the Commercial-street depot and return on the afternoon train, which leaves THE PALMS at 3:15 p.m.

A GOOD SILVER MINE—WAKING UP.

ALOSTA, Jan. 12.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Messrs. Cullen and Miller have been working their mine in the San Gabriel cañon, known as the Ruby claim, and they can show good specimens of native silver, although they are not on the ledge proper.

There is considerable activity in the San Gabriel mining district, brought about by a rumor that an English company is about to bond a number of mines and put up mills.

There is a movement on foot to form a company to construct a large reservoir near the mouth of the Big Dalton cañon.

The handsome residences of Messrs. John Bender and Charles West will soon be completed.

The following real-estate transfers have been made during the past week: T. T. Davis to Richard Gird: 160 acres, consideration $12,000; E. C. Griswold to ——: 80 acres, $8000; A. M. Seymour to ——: 40 acres, $3600.

The roar of the blasts announcing the advance of the railroad across the river is awakening our people.

Pomona.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

POMONA, Jan. 12.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The annual edition of THE TIMES more than pleased its many Pomona friends, and is acknowledged by almost every one to be the best paper issued from Los Angeles, New Year's or any other day.

Our new depot will be ready for occupation in about 30 days.

The Pomona ball club was defeated Saturday, at San Bernardino, 15 to 6.

L. O. Breeden succeeded Ira W. Emmons as S. P. station agent Saturday.

Many of our ladies were "at home" New Year's day.

The K. of P. ball, Friday night was a splendid success.

Pomona is booming and the many real-estate sales are hard to keep track of. Prices are very stiff and constantly advancing.

Medical.

CATARRH

CONSUMPTION,

ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS,

Treated specially and successfully by

W. N. DAVIS, M.D.,

45½ N. SPRING STREET,

Los Angeles, : : : : California.

NASAL CATARRH.

Treated upon a new principle, founded upon the fact that the disease is parasitic in its origin. The parasites can be demonstrated by the microscope, and will present the appearance shown below:

(PARASITES MAGNIFIED 480 TIMES.)

One difficulty in the treatment of this disease has been the inability to apply the remedies to the whole seat of inflammation; another is the failure to use the right remedies.

Our treatment consists in using medicines in the form of ointments, which are warmed and sprayed through the head and throat, reaching every part of the head that a spray can reach. The remedy remains in the head for some time, passes readily into vapor, and reaches cells filled with mucus impossible to be reached by medicine in liquid or powdered form.

The treatment is pleasant, and even children will take it readily after the first time, knowing the relief it will give them at once.

Constitutional remedies are employed for the blood, etc. Patients can treat themselves at home when necessary.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

THE BENEFIT DERIVED FROM INHALATION.

In the Circle of Sciences we read this sentence: "The general effect of oxygen in nature is that of a life giving principle." Ever since the discovery of oxygen by Priestly, has this idea been uppermost in the mind medical, for since respiration is the process of administering oxygen to the tissues of the body through the agency of the blood (and in the lungs, purifying the life-blood), the thought instinctively pops into the mind that if, in cases of disease or imperfect oxygenation, we could help the lungs to more than their usual amount of oxygen, we would be wielding a weapon of vast remedial effectiveness.

Practical experience shows this theory to be correct, and never have we seen a case of asthma, bronchitis, consumption or general debility that the inhalations, properly administered, failed to relieve, more or less. 'Tis true that consumption in the third stage can only be relieved, except in rare instances, but our belief, founded upon experience, is that every case can be cured in the first stage, and the large majority in the second stage, climatic influences being favorable.

The home treatment can be sent per express to any address.

Los Angeles, Dec. 9, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis—Dear Sir: I wish to testify as to what your catarrh treatment has done for me. I was troubled with catarrh for five or six years or more, and felt as if death would be a relief. My sense of smell was entirely gone, and my hearing and taste were very much affected. Your treatment relieved at once, and in a few weeks entirely cured me, and restored my lost senses to their natural condition.

PRISCILLA DUDLEY,
R. Renshaw's office, No. 20, Downey block.

Los Angeles, Aug. 6, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis: This is to certify that I have been troubled with the catarrh for four years. My breath was offensive and I used different kinds of medicine, and it failed to cure me. I went to Dr. W. N. Davis and he treated me with the Medical Inhalation Treatment, and I was cured in 45 days and am now in perfect health. All those that are troubled with the catarrh had better go and consult Dr. Davis.

JOSEPH BAKER,
No. 217 First st.

Los Angeles, June 13, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis, Dear Sir: I was troubled with a bad form of catarrh of the nose and throat for eight years, and I am thankful to say that your treatment has entirely cured me in a few weeks (eight weeks). My stomach was somewhat affected, causing indigestion, which was relieved at once. I have gained 10 pounds since I began treatment, and feel better than since I was a child.

MRS. ELLA WILKINSON,
Figueroa st., near Ward.

This is to certify that I am a regularly-qualified physician, but not practicing, and have always believed catarrh of the chronic nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. W. N. Davis's "New Treatment" and his success, I applied to him for medicine, and determined to try it in the case of one of my friends, and did so with the most satisfactory results, as improvement was immediate, and one prescription effected a cure. The case was of years' standing and a bad type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to those similarly affected.

S. HALEY, M.D.,
Ponet Block.

Los Angeles, August 1, 1885.

JAN. 2, 1886.—S. Haley testifies that the case he treated five months ago is still a cure.

Los Angeles, July 4, 1885.—Dr. W. N. Davis: I have been troubled with catarrh of the dry variety for about five years, since three years before I came to California, and in one month I feel that I have been entirely cured by your remedies. Yours truly, PETER NIES,
P. O. Box 825.

Art Studio, 211 South Bunker Hill ave., Los Angeles, Cal.—Dr. W. N. Davis, Dear Sir: I am happy to inform you that your remedies have cured that terribly obstinate catarrh of the back part of the nostrils and throat from which I suffered so much. It does not trouble me at all now, and I have only taken your treatment about two months and a half.

Yours gratefully, M. S. FISH.
May 25, 1886.

Los Angeles, Dec. 10, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis: I was troubled with moist catarrh of the nose and throat for about two and a half years, there always being a disagreeable feeling above the soft palate, and a disposition to clear the throat. Your treatment entirely cured me in one month.

MRS. ANNIE TOWNSEND, 108 Olive st.

Los Angeles, Oct. 2, 1886.—This is to certify that I was troubled with asthma and bronchitis for one and a half years, and never was entirely free from it at any time till two months ago, I put myself under the care of Dr. W. N. Davis, and his inhalations gave me relief at once, so that I could attend to my business as well as ever. I now believe that I am entirely cured.

H. J. DEYO, Ventura st. and Vernon ave.

Los Angeles, Jan. 27, 1886.—This is to certify that I have been troubled for four years with bronchitis, and in six weeks I have been almost entirely cured by Dr. W. N. Davis, and have had no suffocative attacks since I commenced treatment. I can recommend Dr. Davis to any who are troubled with the lungs.

MRS. M. S. STEVENS, Ninth st., near Pearl.

Los Angeles, Feb. 3, 1886.—Dr. Davis: If it were not for you I am satisfied that I would now be dead with lung disease, which had troubled me for two years, as at the time I began treatment last summer I was so low that I was unable to continue my trip East, after starting, and was obliged to return from Mojave. I wish to testify that I was entirely cured in three months, and found your charges very reasonable.

$3150 for two lots, one a corner lot, on Bellevue ave., only five minutes walk from the new postoffice.

Lots in all parts of the city at reasonable prices.

I desire to call particular attention to the fine building lots that I have for sale on the hill; on the installment plan.

Parties desiring fine residence property will do well to examine the lots that I have for sale in the De Celis tract, only one narrow block from Main-st. car line; covered with orange trees in full bearing. Good soil, good streets, and surrounded by fine residences. This property is near the center of the city, with an electric railroad on one side and a horsecar line on the other.

WILL EXCHANGE

Several fine pieces of property in different parts of the State for city property.

Houses rented, rents collected and all business connected with real estate promptly attended to.

I will say to my Eastern friends and all others who contemplate settling here or making investments in property, that I have a large line of improved and unimproved property on my books for sale or exchange. It will certainly be to your interest to call and examine my list before purchasing, as I take great pleasure in giving information and showing property to intending purchasers.

Parties having large or small sums of money to loan on good security will do well to give me a call. Out of the many loans recommended and made by me I challenge any mortgagee to say that a suit has been commenced on a single installment of interest delinquent this date and unpaid.

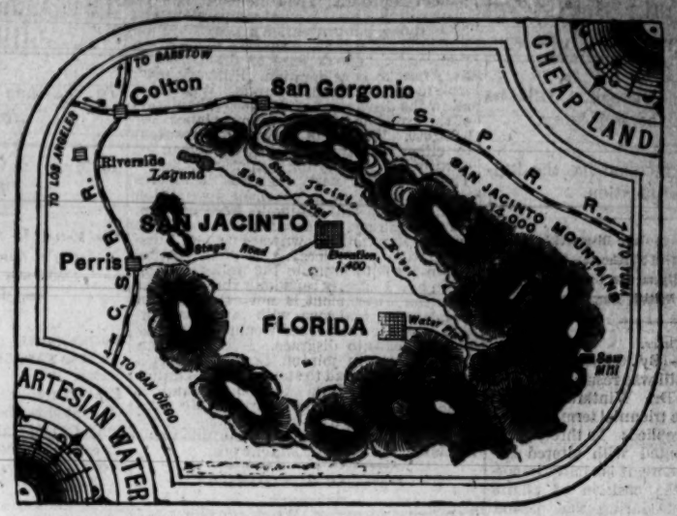
HONEST, SOUND ADVICE



TO PERSONS SEEKING HOMES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

The undersigned citizens of San Jacinto

WILL PAY THE EXPENSES

Of any person or persons to

The Great San Jacinto Valley

IN SAN DIEGO COUNTY,

And return, if the following statement is not true:

Compton, Kerr & Griffin, Real Estate Agents.	E. B. Knapp, Harness and Saddles.
McCormack & Weber, Wagons, Buggies and Implements.	J. F. Shultz, Machinist.
W. T. Merchant.	O. A. Munn, Attorney-at-Law.

J. G. Reinhardt, Hardware and Stoves.	Francisco Estudillo, Capitalist.
J. A. Green, Banker.	Alex Edwards, Farmer.
	John McLaren, Capitalist.

THE SAN JACINTO VALLEY,

Is eighty-five miles east of Los Angeles, twelve miles south of Beaumont (formerly San Gorgonio), on the S. P. R. R., sixteen miles east of Perris, on the C. S. R. R., and daily stages to and from these points; climate genial and dry—being fifty miles from the coast. Throat, lung, asthama and catarrh troubles are benefited, and many chronic cases are permanently cured. Productive land ranging in price from $15 to $100 per acre, for fruit, agriculture, grazing, etc. Alfalfa cut five to seven times a year there. The orange, lemon, fig, apricot, peach, grapes and other kinds of fruit grown in Southern California are produced here.

2000 ACRES OF HEAVY TIMBER FOR FUEL,

Which is sold from $1 to $3 a cord. An abundant supply of pine, cedar, spruce, oak, etc., on the adjacent mountains. Two saw-mills (capacity 20,000 feet daily); 1 planing-mill; 1 fruit box factory; 2 brick yards (2,500,000 burnt and laid up here in two years), price per thousand last season, $6 and $7. First-class limestone in an unlimited quantity.

EIGHTY-TWO ARTESIAN WELLS,

One of which flows 1,000,000 gallons ever twenty-four hours. River water is being conveyed in iron pipes to a 3000-acre tract of mesa land, suitable for most all semi-tropical fruits.

TWO HOT SPRINGS,

The curative properties of which are famous, and the baths are free to everybody.

A RAILROAD COMPANY HAS BEEN INCORPORATED

To build a railroad to San Jacinto, and a large subsidy has already been contributed, and it is certain the railroad will be in operation in a few months.

Artesian water is conducted through the streets in iron pipes, and into second stories of buildings.

A $12,000 BRICK SCHOOLHOUSE,

Graded schools, churches, brick blocks. This place has made, as we believe, the greatest growth of any place in Southern California, and has made the most improvements of any new colony in California in the last three years. Its altitude is 1400 feet above the sea. The population in 1883 was fifty persons, and in 1886 is about twelve hundred. No other valley in Southern California has so many advantages. Come and see for yourself and be convinced of this fact.

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, Jan. 12.

The Grain market was practically unchanged today, according to reports from the principal markets.

Advices from San Francisco say that the Wool market is very quiet and that business at the East is very dull. Fall clip is quoted in San Francisco as follows: San Joaquin and Southern coast, free, 12@15c.; San Joaquin, mountain, 12@15c.; Southern, mountain, 12@14c.; Northern choice, free, 20@22c.; Northern choice, defective, 14@18c.; Northern heavy, defective, 12@15c.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Government bonds were dull, but steady.

Money on call easy at 2@5, closing at 4.

Prime mercantile paper, 8@7.

Sterling exchange quiet, steady and unchanged; 4.82¼ for 60 days, 4.84 for demand.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Bar silver per ounce, 1.01¾.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Silver bars per cent. discount, 21@23.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Transactions in stocks were entirely local, there being little or nothing done for any outside interest. There was some improvement during the afternoon, especially in the last hour, when the market became moderately active upon covering of shorts, and closed strong close to the opening figures.

TOPOLOBAMPO.

INTERESTING MEETING OF THE CLUB LAST NIGHT.

A Letter From Albert K. Owen—Statement by Colonists—Over Three Hundred Now on the Ground—Description of the Locality.

A large meeting of the Topolobampo Club was held yesterday evening in the Baker block.

The meeting was called to order by Ralph E. Hoyt, after which the constitution was read for the benefit of those who had not attended before.

A motion was put and carried authorizing the president to appoint a committee of three to make arrangements for a hall for future meetings, and to report on the best method of raising money for the necessary expenses of the club; also to take up a collection for present emergencies.

The following letter was read from Albert K. Owen, the founder of the enterprise, dated "On Train," Kansas, December 28th:

"Seven colonists sailed from Guaymas on the Norma, a 12-ton schooner, December 23, and the same day Mr. Friend, with a party of thirteen and four wagons, passed Nogales en route from Turlock, Cal., to Topolobampo. I wrote Gen. Martinez, general commanding the forces in Sonora, Sinaloa and Lower California, to give them an escort of soldiers. At Rincon, N. M., December 26th, Dr. Peet and I met Director Eaton and thirty Maine colonists, and at 3 a.m. December 27th, we had two minutes with Director Hawkins, as he passed, with twenty Illinois and Michigan colonists, to join Director Eaton at Guaymas. When these parties reach Topolobampo there will be 308 persons on the ground—a pretty lively move for two months, when we consider the distances, inconvenience, etc. Let no more start until I give full instructions. Time, money and discomfort will be saved if our colonists will be guided by reason and not by impulse. I will stop in Chicago to see our friends there. Let no one start for Sinaloa until I have time to report in full."

The following letter was read from colonists, dated Topolobampo, December 17th:

To Our Friends: In accordance with a request of the members of the Pacific Colony, made at a meeting on the shore of Topolobampo Bay, December 15, 1886, a statement of the facts concerning Topolobampo Harbor, its soundings, the climate and natural resources of the country is hereby submitted.

Upon entering the "inner harbor," we find it unsurpassed in the depth of its channel and its protection for shipping by any harbor on the Pacific coast, having a depth, at least, of four fathoms, almost surrounded by high hills, and of sufficient area for all the shipping that an extensive commerce requires.

Its waters abound in fish, oysters and sea-turtles, and the scenery is grand and beautiful beyond description. Immediately on the north and east extends a vast and fertile plain, comprising the valley of the Fuerte River, having a deep, dark and rich soil, with a few scattering hills rising abruptly from the plain—valley and hill covered with a dense growth of low timber, affording excellent material for fuel and charcoal, together with a thick growth of underbrush and cactus. This soil is capable of producing everything in semi-tropical and temperate regions.

The air is pure, salubrious and exhilarating, the winds moderate and regular, and the temperature, at this season, ranges between 56 and 85 degrees.

The city site is laid out so as to front the bay east of the railroad terminus.

We find the Mexican people kind and well-disposed toward us, and the Indians peaceable and industrious.

Upon the whole, we find the published letters and reports of those who have been here before us true in all essentials.

Some of the members of the Pacific Colony, now here, have explored the valley above-mentioned and know the facts there stated, and others hereby affirm the statements herein made, as far as their knowledge extends.

We have all had the opportunity of making the personal acquaintance of Albert K. Owen, who has been with us for a week, and find in him a man of indomitable spirit, of profound and comprehensive mind, of undoubted integrity, of great executive ability and deep earnestness and determination in the work in which he is engaged; such a man as we see but once in a generation of time, and even then standing alone amidst the great army of selfish beings by which he is surrounded. We hereby express our unbounded confidence in him as a leader in the grand enterprise in which we are all engaged.

In attestation of the statements here made we subscribe our names.

[Eight other names follow, which was the number of every adult person in camp at the time.—A. K. OWEN.]

The following letter is from Eugene F. Potts, dated Fuerto, Sinaloa, December 12th:

Dear Editor: On reading one of the copies of the Credit Foncier, I find that one of your colonists asks if there is a chance to buy sewing-machines anywhere in the vicinity of Topolotampo. I wish to say that I have for sale in Fuerte Singer's improved at the following prices, viz: $45, $50 and $55 in Mexican money, which would be respectively $33.75, $37.50 and $41.25 in American money, or perhaps less. You can inform your colonists through the columns of your paper.

I am very glad to learn that so many are coming to this coast, and hope you may all be well pleased and build up a flourishing colony.

There are many kinds of business that can be profitably undertaken here. A good tannery would pay well. The cabinet business would be profitable. A boot and shoe factory also would pay. This country is destitute of skilled workmen, consequently a great need is felt.

With the exception of a very few, the people are very anxious that the Americans should come. If you or any of your colonists should wish to write me regarding anything in this district, I shall be happy to give such information as I have. When I learn that a good number have arrived in Topolobampo I shall visit them.

The chairman called attention to an interesting article which had appeared in THE TIMES of that morning, copied from the San Francisco Chronicle, regarding the colony enterprise. There would also doubtless be another interesting report of this meeting in tomorrow's paper, and he advised all present to procure a copy to mail to their friends. THE TIMES had given much fuller reports of the Topolobampo colony than any other Los Angeles paper. He had received during the past week a large number of letters from persons in various portions of this State who had seen an account of their last meeting in THE TIMES.

The constitution was read for the benefit of newcomers.

The chairman announced that Mr. Smith, who went down from Humboldt county as an investigator, was expected here within a week, when he would inform them what his impressions were.

A gentleman present announced that Alvin D. Brock, of Washington, had been present at the meeting, but being indisposed had left without giving his address. It transpired that Mr. Brock is a director on motors.

In reply to a lady the chairman explained that only the resident colonists would have a vote. The lady also wanted to know whether women would vote, which was answered in the affirmative. The lady was afraid that the husband would have the property and the voting power in the case of married people, but it was explained that they would act in such matters independently of each other. No distinction was made in this colony between males and females.

A collection of 10 cents each was then taken up from members present, toward defraying expenses of the club, after which several new names were proposed and elected members.

The secretary was instructed to send East for such documents as the president may select.

The corresponding secretary reported that she had written to Mr. Owen, in accordance with instructions, regarding the habit which the Mexican government is said to have, of breaking its faith with colonists. No reply had yet been received.

The chairman announced that Mr. Owen's book, called "Integral Coöperation," containing a sketch of his remarkable life, could now be purchased at Olmstead's bookstore, for 30 cents each.

The meeting then adjourned until next Wednesday week.

HELLMAN HOME.

He is Contented, but Neither In Nor Out of the Race.

I. W. Hellman, president of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, is back from Sacramento, looking well and happy. He said to a TIMES representative yesterday afternoon that the Senatorial question was still a riddle. It looked like Hearst, and it didn't look like Hearst. "I think," said Mr. Hellman, "that in case Hearst does not get it, I stand the best chance. I have not withdrawn from the field and I have not been in the field. Mr. White and Mr. Rose, however, came to me and begged me to allow them to use my name, and I finally consented. I know that all the respectable members favored me, but there are, unfortunately, a great many 'boodlers.' When I saw that there was going to be a wrangle I came away and left the whole thing to take care of itself. I would not buy it and I would not scramble for it. The United States Senatorship is not essential to my happiness at all. I do not know that Mr. White is a candidate at all. He said nothing to me about it, and I do not think he would go in without asking me."

Steamer Passengers.

The Orizaba sailed north yesterday with the following passengers:

For San Francisco—Mrs J S Winter, Miss Ida Davendorl, Bevin James, Theodore Bauch, W H O'Connor, J Siegel, Miss Mollie Owens, Miss L W Savage, F C Fryett, William J Ehrherdt, J C Erb, Mrs Bennett, Miss Nellie Ferris, T F Dugan, C M Taylor, M F Sharp, L E Jackson, G W Freeman, T M Michaels, W E Curry, Rev P Howe, Rev J Adams, Rev F X Antill, Sister Margaret Stephens, Charles Cobell, Mrs E S Cobell, Mrs M F McLaen, A A Thompson and Miss Bessie Berry.

Court Notes.

John W. Lapham and Alonzo H. Lapham were found to be insane after an examination before Judge Brunson, and were committed to the asylum at Stockton.

In Justice Austin's court yesterday Gabriel Ortega, charged with assault to murder, was dismissed. The battery charge against Ah Hung was also dismissed.

Justice Taney sentenced William Burns, a vag, to 20 days; and three less vaggish vags to 5 each. A. L. McDonald, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was dismissed.

RIEFS.

The Orizaba sails south today.

The Nadeau now sports an elegant new passenger barge.

The first number of Henry George's new paper was being extensively sold on the streets yesterday evening.

The annual meeting of the Humane Society will be held in the parlors of the Hollenbeck block tomorrow evening.

The East Los Angeles telegraph office is in Dr. Schloss's drug store, 621 Downey avenue. It is now open for business.

The Michigan Association meets in Council Chamber at 7:30 this evening to prepare for the celebration of Michigan's Admission day.

Filed in the Recorder's office yesterday: 73 deeds, 19 mortgages, 13 satisfactions, 3 marriage licenses and 15 miscellaneous papers.

The sky pouted yesterday as though it would weep at a very light excuse. Where, oh where, are Br'er Moll's dynamite balloons?

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to A. J. Hinkley and S. D. Millstedt, L. Garnier and Josephine Gless and A. E. Marshall and T. C. Mills.

A. H. Lapham, an afflicted young man who has been very troublesome to the citizens of West Los Angeles, has been committed to Stockton as insane. His father is in the same pitiable plight and goes too.

Bertie McCabe, a 10-year-old boy, who was sent up by Justice Austin, to the Boys and Girls' Reformatory in San Francisco a couple of weeks ago, beat his way back to Los Angeles and was arrested on Main street, yesterday, by officers Roberts and Huston. Bertie is a bad case.

There are undelivered messages at 17 North Main street for H. W. Squires, Rev. M. V. Wright, D. White; Frank Sullivan, City Hotel Restaurant; S. D. Johnson, C. H. Shaver, Mrs. John M. Waldron (2), Robert MacDonald, J. M. Cavanagh, Samuel Miner, Fred Georgeson; Mr. Hue Higgins, Occidental Hotel; G. Esehman.

PERSONAL NEWS.

E. C. Carr, of Pasadena, was a guest of the St. Elmo yesterday.

William M. Roworth, a substantial citizen of Denver, is here on a three months' visit.

H. C. Dinkins, of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway, was at the St. Elmo yesterday.

John F. Wilson, of Helena, Mont., is paying a six weeks' visit to his brother, C. N. Wilson, whom he had not seen since 1858.

Maj. Ben C. Truman is in the city. His present mission is to write up the wine industry of Southern California for the New York Times.

Maj. Geo. H. Bonebrake goes to San Bernardino today, to a meeting of the directors of the San Bernardino and Los Angeles Railroad.

Mrs. Rose Breed, of Chico, has arrived here to pass the winter with her father-in-law, President of Council L. N. Breed. Her husband, the well-remembered Fred Breed, was killed in a railroad collision at Bluewater, N. M., nearly two years ago.

Removal.

Albee & Willard have removed their office from 110 South Spring street, to 36½ North Spring street, where they will be pleased to have their friends and parties desiring fine lots, tracts or acre property, call on them.

Dr. Hammond Tests the Efficacy of Hypodermic Injections of Cocaine, and Has a Remarkable Experience.

[Exchange.]

The local anæsthetic properties of cocaine have been known but a short time, and it has been charged that the use of the drug induces a habit similar to the opium habit, which holds its victims in abject slavery. Ex-Surgeon-General W. A. Hammond, of New York city, had used coca wines, fluid extracts and other forms of the drug, but had discarded the fluid extracts because they were badly borne by the stomach, and the wines because they contained tannin and extractive matters, and differed so much in their effects. He found that two grains of hydrochloride of cocaine to the pint of pure wine was the proper preparation and produced all of the beneficial effects and none of the deleterious results. Then he began a series of experiments with hypodermic injections of the hydrochloride to ascertain whether the stories about the cocaine habit were true or false.

"At first I injected one grain, and experienced an exhilaration of spirits similar to that produced by two or three glasses of champagne," said Dr. Hammond. "My powers of imagination increased. The physical sensation was a delightful, undulating thrill. I was in a very happy frame of mind—a sociable mood—and no doubt would have been quite agreeable company. The after effects were inability to sleep until 5 in the morning, and a headache when I got up. The next night I took two grains, and, in addition to the sensations described, I felt a desire to write. I had begun a letter to a friend, and under the influence of the drug I extended what would have been a missive of moderate length to an epistle covering a wide variety of topics and 48 pages of paper. It proved to be correctly written and coherent, and gave much satisfaction to the receiver, but I found that I had treated diffusely of many things that ordinarily I would not deem worth mentioning. If a man were desirous of writing to fill space, or utterly exhausting a given subject even to the most trivial details, I would recommend him to fill his inkstand, get a ream or two of paper and plenty of pens, and have a physician give him a hypodermic injection of cocaine. If you want to condense your subject, don't take cocaine in large doses. No doubt a moderate quantity taken in wine will stimulate the imagination and enable one to write more brilliantly and with less effort than he otherwise could. Eugene Sue never wrote without a bottle of champagne at his elbow, and the luxuriance of his imagination displayed in the 'Wandering Jew' may be attributed, in part, to the effects of the wine. The difference between cocaine and alcohol as stimulants is that alcohol has a tendency to lower the mental and moral tone and brutalize the nature, while cocaine has a refining, softening effect. Under the influence of moderate doses I became rather sentimental and said nice things to everybody. The world was going very well, and I had a favorable opinion of my fellow men and women. There was not a bit of pugnacity about me, and I didn't want to fight, argue, or dispute with any one.

"The next time I increased the dose to three grains, which unlimbered my tongue in the most astonishing way. I wanted to talk, and I did talk, not in the oratorical manner, but I was just purely loquacious. When nobody was present I talked to myself. There was no disarrangement of the mental faculties, no disorder of the process of thought. I talked coherently and correctly, and I am certain that if I had been in the lecture room I should have spoken much better than I usually speak. I was perfectly able to restrain the impulse to talk, but it was pleasant to speak, and I enjoyed myself hugely. There was an abnormal quickening of the faculties; the mind's operations were rapid and the imagination vivid. Headache followed.

"Then I doubled the quantity of the cocaine, and became somewhat intoxicated. The scribbling propensity returned, and I wrote voluminously. I was preparing a medical work, and my mind was full of the subject matter. What I wrote was an introduction to the book, and I thought it a very brilliant production. Ideas came thick and fast, and I was persuaded that my composition work was going to eclipse anything that I had ever done in that line. When I put it away and went to bed, I congratulated myself that I should be satisfied with my night's work when I should read it over. I didn't sleep at all that night. When I looked over my famous introduction I found it to be arrant nonsense. Each sentence was complete and coherent in itself, but none had any relation to the others, although all were in the general line of the subject I was treating in the book. The stuff read, as a whole, very much like a dream. It was a mess of ragged, disconnected ideas and notions, set down in a disorderly fashion, and containing matter that did not belong to an introduction. But in spite of the rampant disorder of ideas, I had no hallucinations such as are produced by hasheesh, no grotesque delusions or insane imaginings. The mental machine was ruuning with the governor belt thrown off, and the brain raced, so to speak. Eight grains three nights later produced similar effects, but I did not write, and the sensations became rather painful than agreeable.

"The next night I determined to make a more severe test, and so subjected 18 grains within 20 minutes. The results were stunning. I became intensely exhilarated and finally oblivious. What I did, or thought, or felt, I don't know, except from circumstantial evidence. I got to bed in some way. In the morning I found the library in disorder. All the volumes of two large cyclopedias were opened and scattered about the floor, as though I had been searching for something and could not find it. I had not the slightest recollection of touching a book or wanting to look up anything. Any brilliant idea I might have had under the influence of 18 grains of cocaine is irrevocably lost to the world. But I have a vivid remembrance of a most preposterous headache that lasted two days and refused to succumb to cold baths. I cured it with strong coffee. Then I stopped the experiments. I acquired no habit and had no difficulty in quitting the use of cocaine. Experiments upon others and observation of the results of administering cocaine in cumulative doses for three months in cases requiring such treatment have satisfied me that there is no cocaine habit. When used to cure the opium habit by persons ignorant of the proper way of using it, cocaine has produced bad effects; but an opium eater has a habit of having a habit, and no will power, and if he were to take sawdust as a substitute for opium he would acquire a sawdust habit. Take the opium or morphine habit away from the patient and administer cocaine properly, and you will cure the opium habit without introducing a cocaine habit.

"One singular effect of cocaine is that it will induce people to speak who are afflicted with silent melancholia. A woman who had not spoken for nine months began to talk within four minutes after I had injected four grains, and in ten minutes she talked at a rate that made up for lost time. Nothing could stop her. Whether this property of cocaine is beneficial and desirable depends, perhaps, upon circumstances."

Summons.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles. John McCoy and William T. Clapp, plaintiffs, vs. Amelia A. Dyer et als., defendants. Action brought in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and the complaint filed in said county of Los Angeles in the office of the clerk of said Superior court. The people of the State of California send greeting to Amelia A. Dyer, divorced wife of — Todd, Caroline L. Davenport, Emma J. Geer, Fannie R. Bronson, Clara G. Kavanaugh, D. D. Kavanaugh, trustee, George W. Dyer, as agent for said Amelia A. Dyer, John Doe, Richard Roe and William Doe, defendants.

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiffs, in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days. The said action is brought to obtain partition of a certain tract of land consisting of 5 25-100 acres of land, more or less, being lot one in Block C, of the San Pasqual tract of the Lake Vineyard Land and Water Association lands, in Los Angeles county, State of California, and for cost of suit. Reference is had to complaint for particulars.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiffs will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, this 28th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

TELEPHONES.

The American Bell Telephone Company of Boston, Mass., owns the letters patent granted to Alexander Graham Bell, March 7, 1876, No. 174,465, and January 30, 1877, No. 186,787. THE TRANSMISSION OF SPEECH BY ALL KNOWN FORMS OF ELECTRIC SPEAKING TELEPHONES INFRINGES THE RIGHT SECURED TO THIS COMPANY BY THE ABOVE PATENTS, and renders each individual user of telephones, not furnished by it or its licensees, responsible for such unlawful use, and all consequences thereof and liable to suit therefor.

Numerous stock jobbing companies have been formed, from time to time, to introduce telephones which they vigorously asserted did not infringe the Bell patents. On the strength of these statements the promotors have sold shares to credulous people and pocketed the money. In due course of time the United States Courts have shut up the infringing companies by injunction, and the deluded shareholders have lost their money. This game has been worked repeatedly in the Atlantic States and invariably with the same result. The Bell patents have been sustained in over 30 different suits before the United States Courts and have never been defeated.

It will be well for intending purchasers of infringing telephones, or shares in infringing telephone companies, to consider these facts before parting with their money to plausible speculators who may clean up and get away, leaving them to meet the legal consequences of the infringement.

FARM AND RANGE.

THE ANGORA GOAT.

It May be Raised with Profit in California.

[Extract from the address of Col. C. P. Bailey before the Angora Goat Breeders' Association.]

At first many, perhaps the most of us, invested in goats as a side issue, because they were pretty, or as pets for our wives or children; but as they increased and a good goat was readily sold and brought as much as a cow or a horse, we began to get more in earnest about the matter. When our goats had so increased that we had some mohair to sell and our own factories sent us their circulars soliciting our consignments and admitting their preference for our fleeces when compared with imported mohair, then we commenced to wake up, and the butcher got our surplus cattle and the salesyard got our surplus horses, and the more honorable goat got a better division of the farm products and did not have to climb quite so high among the rocks to gain a living.

We found that though a goat could sustain life on as little and in as rough and poor a range as any living animal, yet when we wanted pounds of mohair and good large percentages of kids, it paid, when necessary, to feed the goats well on hay and grain, and to provide dry sheds for them on rainy nights after shearing and when they had young kids.

We found that we could raise a pound of mohair very nearly as cheap as we could a pound of wool, and that it would bring nearly three times as much in the market.

The first factories in the United States that used mohair made it into dress goods, and we were paid 80c to $1 per pound for it. But fickle dame fashion suddenly decreed that only soft, lusterless goods should be worn by ladies. Then for two years there was no sale for mohair at any price, and we goatmen had sorry times. Many failed, sold their flocks, and gave up the business disgusted. The accumulated mohair attracted the attention of plush manufacturers, and several good establishments were started and have continued to run with profit to their stockholders and satisfaction to consumers.

Now fine mohair robes and the best quality of upholsterer's plushes are to be found in all our markets. Our ladies of leisure fashioned beautiful scurfs, hoods and shawls from Angora knitting yarn, and the demand for it was so great that a dozen different factories are now making knitting yarns.

Considerable mohair is now mixed with silk in the manufacture of fringes, and in the goods for traveling dresses and wraps so popular the past year. The result is that America does not produce a tenth part enough mohair for the consumption of our own factories, and a good article is in demand the moment it arrives in market.

Experience has proved that goats will do well and can be profitably raised in any locality where sheep thrive; but the best results have been obtained in the drier, more elevated sections. The low foothill valleys of the Sierras of California for winter, and high mountain ranges for summer, cannot be excelled in any part of the world for excellence of pasture and natural adaptability to the goat. But the steady advance of the agriculturist and fruit raiser has so appreciated the value of these foothill valleys that goats have to go farther toward the frontier.

It is now nearly 30 years since we first commenced experimenting with Angora goats in the United States. For the first 20 years very little progress was made. Foremost among the causes were the excessively high prices that were paid for pure-bred bucks, and the exaggerated profits we were led to believe there was in the business. Some of the earliest importations cost us from $400 to $500 per head. A report issued by the Agricultural Department at Washington in 1863 quoted mohair at $8 per pound.

The process of breeding up tired out many of us. We thought we were pretty well started in the business when we had gotten together a few hundred Mexican does and enough pure-bred bucks for their service; but when we found from experience that it took six or eight years of this breeding up before we got any grades that would shear a four-pound fleece, then we were again disappointed.

At the Cape of Good Hope, the first Angora goats were imported in 1866, just 20 years ago, and last year they exported half as much mohair as Asia Minor. Instead of commencing the business with a couple of bucks led across the plains, as we did in California, they commenced with a shipload of the best pure breds that could be found in Angora, and men of money and energy took hold of them to make a business of it, and not as playthings or pets. Such men as I. B. Evans, H. Masdorf, W. Edwards, and the two Lees, not only raised pure breeds, but grade flocks as well, showing their faith in the business; and some of these men have made fortunes as rapidly as did the early cattle dealers of Wyoming. They did not deal in pure breeds only, and when a customer came, gave him a pamphlet full of glowing exaggerations and untried theories, but they took them out and showed their own flocks of grades, and told them how long it took to raise such a flock, how much wool they sheared, etc. This knowledge from experience, instead of theory, started their purchasers in the right way. And as years rolled on, and they were able to accomplish what they expected, they were satisfied and the business prospered.

I do not think we have nearly reached perfection in the goat business on this coast, but we have made some progress. Those of us who have kept and taken good care of our flocks are in a fair way now to make an independent living out of them in time to come.

Not Good at Conundrums.

A pretty and romantic city girl spent last summer on a Maine farm and got up a mild flirtation with the young man of the house. He was not particularly bold, and so one evening as she swung in the hammock in the moonlight she coyly said to the young fellow: "What is God's best gift to man?" He pondered a moment, as he watched the color come and go in her cheeks, and then said decisively: "A good hoss, I think." The young woman said that it was getting damp and she must go right into the house.
